R.E. Lee Academy Contemplating 9th Grade Addition

Robert E. Lee Academy directors have announced that they may include a ninth grade for the school session of 1971-1972. This addition, if granted by the directors, will complete the three phase educational levels sought by the Academy four years ago at its enciption.

At that time Academy officials tentatively planned to add a grade per year of operation. This goal is very close to realization.

Mr. Walter H. Carson, Headmaster, has announced that most of the details have been worked out with regard to curriculum, time schedule and teacher loads.

The Pastor Speaks

"But It Doesn't Hurt You"

"It's okay if I take these drugs," said the young man. "It doesn't hurt anybody but myself." That trend of thinking is pretty common these days. So long as what we do hurts no one but ourselves, we may reason that it's okay to do it.

There are at least two types of sinning. Some sins are wrong because they cause harm or injury to others. Murder, robbery, and gossip fall in this category.

Other things are wrong because they cause harm to the person who commits them. The person doing these things is corrupting his own character and destroying his own soul.

This brings up an important question. Does a man have the right to do anything he wants provided he does harm to no one else?

The answer of this century is "yes." Personal conduct that was shocking and disgusting a few decades ago is now accepted as normative and redemptive.

Christians, however, have a different standard to live by. We are, to a certain extent, our brother's keeper. We ought to encourage people to keep from their own wickedness and degeneracy. We ought to help people who are going to destroy themselves by their wickedness. We ought to keep our brother from doing this.

What another person does is eventually going to affect me. If enough Americans become drug pushers, sadists, and sexual perverts, the overflow is going to spread everywhere. It will affect me eventually. No man is an island unto himself.

This is a time to raise a cry against the sins and problems that destroy individuals. Immorality is engulfing the media and is attacking the very foundations of our civilization. If we let the cancer spread, we are doomed. Reason says so; history tells us so, and the Bible adds its Amen.

What can be done about it? Certainly laws passed to prevent private sins are in order, but these alone won't get the job done. It's going to be necessary for Christian people to raise their voices in a chorus of concern and shout, "It's not enough to keep people from hurting from one another. They also must not hurt themselves."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

HAVE YOU 'HAD IT'?

Lesson for March 14, 1971

Background Scripture: Matthew 6:9-15; 18:21-35
Devotional Reading: Matthew 6: 5-15

"Karl," said his mother softly, "Alec is downstairs – he wants to see you."

In the same low voice Karl replied: "Just tell him I don't want to see him, Mother."

"Oh, Karl, you can't send him away like that," His mother's voice was both sympathetic and persuasive. "I know he made you angry – and I can understand how you felt; it was a careless thing to do – but he's here to apologize; he wants to tell you he's sorry."

"Sorry!" Karl exploded, "he's always sorry afterwards, He was sorry after he lost my homework paper before Christmas and I got and F on that project, He was sorry last week after he passed me a note in history class and I got detention, But today he borrows my transistor radio and leaves it on the bus and now he's sorry again," Karl's voice now was loud but he didn't care: "I'm sorry, Mother, but I've 'had it' with his being sorry!"

How Many Times?

There was silence for a few moments until his mother said evenly: "Karl, how many times have you asked us to accept your apologies? What did you say on Saturday night when you got home an hour late for supper? And what words did you use two weeks ago when you put that long scratch in the fender? Are we supposed to count your apologies and call a halt when we reach a certain number?"

He stared at her and she stared back, There was no need for him to make the obvious answer. Nodding his head slightly, Karl got up and started downstairs.

How many times are we supposed to forgive someone? Once again, Jesus was questioned about the limits of love, How far are we asked to go? The rabbis seemed agreed that three times was enough to meet God's requirement, Turning back to Amos, they had noted that the prophet seemed to use a certain recurrent formula:

Thus says the Lord: "For three transgressions of Damascus, and for four, I will not revoke the punishment . . ." (Amos 1:3, 6, 9, 11)

The rabbis thus reasoned that this meant God would forgive three transgressions, but not four. Thus they devised their rule: A man shall be forgiven three times, So when Peter offered to forgive his brother seven times (better than twice what the rabbis required), he evidently thought he was making a most generous offer.

Seventy TimesSeven . . .
And Beyond!

How surprised he must have been then when Jesus answered, "I do not say to you seven times, but seventy times seven" (Matt. 18:22). Even if Peter was not able to quickly multiply these two numbers in his head, he realized the magnitude of the answer.

Earlier in Matthew Jesus had said: "Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy" (5:7). In the giving of the Lord's Prayer he had said: "Forgive us our debts as we also have forgiven our debtors" (6:14). In the parable he is saying the same thing: God will forgive our sins, but his forgiveness is dependent upon our own willingness to forgive the relatively smaller transgressions against us by others. A Christian ought never to have "had it" when it comes to forgiveness!
